Robert Louis
Stevenson

GR®70

"For my part,
I travel not to go anywhere,
but to go; I travel for travel's sake. And to write about it afterwards [...]"

But the great affair is to move; to feel the needs and hitches of life a little more clearly, to get down off
this feather bed of civilisation, and to find the globe granite underfoot and strewn with cutting flints."

Robert Louis Stevenson

The Association "Sur le chemin de Robert Louis Stevenson"

The path pioneered by Robert Louis Stevenson in 1878 links the départements of Haute-Loire, Ardèche, Lozère and Gard, deep in the Massif Central, and offers daily discoveries and surprises.

The association "Sur le Chemin de Robert Louis Stevenson" was created in 1994 with the aim of promoting this itinerary and helping the constantly growing number of walkers to plan their trip on the GR70 from Le Puy-en-Velay to Alès.

The Association is a network with a people-centred approach numbering over 200 professionals from the commercial, tourism and cultural sectors, based from Le Puy-en-Velay to Alès. They own accommodation and restaurants, hire out donkeys, organise your holiday, supply cultural speakers and hiking guides, manage cultural sites, transport people and luggage, run shops and provide services. They are all located on or near the Trail. In this brochure, you'll find all the details you need to prepare your adventure in the way that suits you best!

Robert Louis Stevenson “avant-garde” hiker!

On 22 September 1878, the young Scottish writer Robert Louis Stevenson left Le-Monastier-sur-Gazeille (Haute-Loire) with his donkey Modestine. Twelve days, two-hundred-and-twenty kilometres and many adventures later, he arrived at Saint-Jean-du-Gard.

He had two reasons for that trip: to recover from the return to America of Fanny Osbourne (whom he would eventually marry a few years later), and to discover the land of the Protestant Camisards...

His book entitled Travels with a Donkey in the Cévennes -largely inspired by his travel diary- was published in 1879, followed a few years later by the famous Treasure Island and The Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde.

This book has made it possible to trace his route, which has since become the Stevenson Trail (GR° 70 Le Chemin de Stevenson). This marked public hiking trail enables walkers to follow in the footsteps of the Francophile Scottish adventurer.

“The merchant asked me for one of my cards; for he said it would be something to talk of in the future this donkey-driving, English amateur vagrant.”

Towards responsible tourism

Whether you are a long-distance walker or just a short-term visitor, you can play your part in the conservation of these invaluable treasures if you abide by some common sense rules.

You can thereby contribute to the protection of the environment, the natural heritage, the local population and its activities, and your fellow-walkers.

Your tolerant and eco-friendly attitude will ensure that future generations will find this countryside in the same condition as it was when Stevenson discovered it over a century ago.

Tailor-made trip

Whether you decide to walk the whole way or only a few stages, make sure you plan your trip well in advance!

This brochure aims to give you all the necessary information so that you can plan your trip to suit your wishes, either by organizing it yourself or by using the skills and experience of a professional.

You will find a map at the end of this brochure to help you visualize the route, and a list of all logos on the back.

The Association has brought together a large number of professionals to meet your expectations. For more information on what they have to offer, feel free to contact them directly.

On your own or accompanied, as a group, as a family, on foot, in the company of a donkey, on a mountain bike or on horseback... there are so many different ways to discover the Stevenson Trail!

Useful tips

The Stevenson Trail is a mid-altitude trail. Even though it does not present any particular dangers (dizzily steep sections, etc.), it is nonetheless a wilderness trail: often stony, at times muddy, and consisting of a succession of uphill and downhill stretches with at times substantial changes in altitude, which require hikers to be in good physical shape. Hikers must wear appropriate footwear for walking on the uneven ground and be equipped according to the weather forecast. They must also set off with food and water reserves that are adapted to the hike. Whilst the Stevenson Trail is way-marked, it crosses many GR°, and you will need a guidebook and/or maps to orientate yourself properly.

In Stevenson's tracks across Europe

Louis Stevenson like many another young Briton of his social class travelled frequently in Europe, participating in the so-called grand tour which gave rise to the notion of tourism. In search of "healthy air" for his respiratory illness, he and his family stayed in health resorts and spas, notably at Hyères and Menton in southern France as well as Bad Godesburg in Germany and Davos in Switzerland.

As an adult he undertook a trip through Belgium and northern France by sailing canoe, down the rivers and canals from Antwerp to Pontoise near Paris. In the artists' colonies of the forest of Fon-tainebleau he met Fanny, the love of his life; then he crossed the Cevennes on foot with the donkey Modestine. He drew inspiration for his writing from landscapes in Britain too, such as Bristol and its docks for Treasure Island, or the Lothian region and especially North Berwick and the Edinburgh of his childhood, and the Scottish Highlands, the setting for his famous novel Kidnapped

In all these places, Stevenson's work and memory live on thanks to devoted and passionate admirers and their many and varied actions – museums, audio trails using mobile apps, cycleways, walking trails, canoe and riverboat trips... where you may encounter the author in a range of different ways, including a board game.

All those involved here, and their territories, are part of the Association "In the footsteps of Robert Louis Stevenson", which has been certified since 2015 as one of the Council of Europe's Cultural Itineraries.

Long Distance Trails In France, the most beautiful hikes

France is criss-crossed by long distance footpaths. From the Vosges to the Pyrenees, from Brittany to the Mediterranean, crossing the Massif Central and the Alps, they provide many ways of discovering the variety of landscapes and heritage of France's regions, on foot, along these trails.

The association On the RL Stevenson Trail works in a network with those who manage other hiking routes throughout the Massif Central and across France, and alongside the French Ramblers' Federation, to share our promotional activities and to exchange experience and good practice, so that we can all improve the welcome we offer to ramblers, the upkeep of our footpaths, the presentation of our heritage, and accessibility for all

The Great Itineraries of France, the most beautiful hike

A trail and all that you'll encounter

A high quality trail, rooted in its territory and open to all.

Walking the Stevenson way should be, we believe, the opportunity to meet people and to make new discoveries, just as it was for Stevenson himself. "My donkey took me through a land of great natural qualities and led me to meet some charming people." To help you organize your hike along the Stevenson way, you can load the free app "Chemin de Stevenson" on your smartphone."

Accessible Stevenson

An escargoline – a light vehicle pulled by a donkey – is available free of charge from all the providers of donkeys for hire. See their contact details on page 9. The Stevenson Trail has been digitised for visually impaired hikers, using the OPENWAY app, thanks to a partnership with the YVOIR Association and the Cévennes National Park with financial support from the GMF.

Directory of natural species

Discover the directory of natural species on the association's website! The species of fauna and flora to be preserved on your route have been identified through a partnership between ALEPE and the Cévennes National Park.

SURICATE®

If you do nevertheless encounter any problems relating to waymarking or to the routing of the trail, please report them via the national SURICATE® app or website. Many thanks!

The logo of the association indicates accommodation open in the winter. ❄️

However, beware of setting off without careful planning. You will be walking at an altitude of between 700 and 1700 m so it is essential to be correctly equipped for very cold temperatures, to prepare your route in detail, to know how to read a map, to use a compass, to have a mobile phone and a satnav (GPS) in case the trail markers are covered in snow. The weather is sometimes uncertain, snow storms are unlike other storms and require a good knowledge of mountains in winter! Let's set off for an adventure!

Short stay discovery visits

From the beginning of the 2023 season we are developing short stay visits along the Trail and promoting them on our website:

www.chemin-stevenson.org/courts-sejours

These short stays are another way for you to discover the Trail and appreciate the cultural and natural heritage of the region.

For its 2024 - 2026 action programme, the Association Sur le Chemin de Stevenson is promoting a project entitled "Consolidating, adapting and sharing along the Stevenson Trail for a sustainable future"

Follow our news on social networks and on the website to make sure you don't miss out on any special events or upcoming festivities.

Transport of passengers and luggage, Taxis

Want to hike without being weighed down? To use a vehicle to make your way along part of the Trail, or to return to your departure point? The service providers listed below offer transport for luggage and/or people.

Don't forget to inform your hosts in advance at each night's accommodation that your luggage will be dropped off with them during the day.

Getting There

Before you set off, consider how to fit your trip around the availability of transport. Hikers often find that transport is a problem in organising their trip. The Stevenson Trail both starts and finishes at SNCF railway stations (at le Puy-en-Velay and Alès) to make the GR70 more accessible.

NB: the GR70 goes through small villages which don't all have a train or bus service. Car sharing is another possibility! You can research this via the various dedicated websites.

Hiking Trips with Donkeys

If you are travelling with a donkey, your furry friend will “try” you, even though it will be better trained than Modestine. A donkey can be obedient but is above all an intelligent creature who will adapt to whoever is leading it. This is why children should only lead with the help of an adult at first. A donkey is then the ideal companion: gentle and friendly, it soon becomes the central character of the party, sometimes trying to share your picnic or occasionally stopping to wait for a walker who has been left behind. Enjoy your walk but keep this in mind: by travelling with a donkey you are taking a risk – that of not being able to do without it in the future!

Donkeys welcome

This logo is given to accommodation providers and districts which commit themselves to hosting donkeys according to the terms of the Association's charter. This involves:

- providing a protected, easy-to-access, hazard-free area of at least 50 m², located no more than one kilometre from the accommodation area,
- providing good quality hay and barley in sufficient quantities as well as a block of salt, clean water drinking facilities for the donkeys,
- providing a sheltered area to store donkey equipment overnight,
- knowing the telephone numbers of nearby veterinarians.

Accommodation, food and services

Nearly all accommodation is open from mid March to early November; outside this period please consult the detailed entries for each accommodation on the website: www.chemin-stevenson.org
You are strongly advised to reserve in advance.

Note that reception for bikers on arrival is preferably from 16h00 onwards. The 200 or so accommodation providers in this brochure are committed to providing services which are of good quality, but different and complementary, so that hikers can each find the type of accommodation that suits them best, whether it be in hostels, bed-and-breakfasts, hotels, campsites or holiday chalets, caravans etc. The variety on offer is part of the charm of the Stevenson trail. Before completing your reservations, we strongly recommend that you make contact with each potential host, who will be able to advise you on your proposed stages.

The maps in this brochure show the trail's four geographical regions, but be aware that their purpose is to help you plan your stages and your overnight stops, they are in no way a walking map! The key to the icons used is on the inside cover flap.

If you find that the accommodation you want is already fully booked out, have you considered modifying your departure date?

*“But it is at night, and after dinner, that the best hour comes (...).
If the evening be fine and warm, there is nothing better in life than to lounge before the inn door in the sunset (...). It is then, if ever, that you taste Joviality to the full significance of that audacious word (...).”*

Gîte d'étape: Hostel with basic equipment. Unisex dormitories. Kitchen and washing facilities.

Gîte d'étape communal: Hostel run by the village/town council.

Chambres d'hôtes: Bed & breakfast accommodation in a variety of establishments from farmhouses or guest-houses to historical homes.

Tables d'hôtes: Guests usually share tables - sometimes with the hosts themselves. Home-cooking, usually prepared with local products - when available, the hosts' own production.

Aire naturelle de camping: Small capacity campsite with only basic facilities.

lemonastiersurgazeille.fr/a-voir-a-faire/musee-espace-culturel-europeen/
1, rue Erailh 43150 Le Monastier-sur-Gazeille
Tél : 04 71 03 80 01 mairie-du-monastier-sur-gazeille@orange.fr

In this museum, located in the former monastery buildings and focused on the history and cultural heritage of Monastier-sur-Gazeille and of the Mezenec mountain district, you can find out about the history of le Monastier and the abbey of Saint Chaffre. Discover the daily life of the Benedictine monks and see some of the abbey's treasures (a reliquary bust of St Chaffre dating from the 12th century, six 15th century paintings, Byzantine fabrics from the 7th and 9th centuries).

- Opening times as for the Tourist Office : contact tel 04 71 08 37 76 or 04 71 08 31 08
- Entry €3 / person for adults, €2 / person for 6-18 year olds and groups of 10 or more

Musée Ecole du Monastier ecolemusee.fr

4 avenue Laurent Eynac, 43150 Le Monastier-sur-Gazeille
Tél : 06 22 10 06 89 ecolemusee96@gmail.com

At this museum in the former schoolhouse, you are met by the school teacher and schoolmistress in the old classrooms for an experience of school as it used to be. Visitors put on the school tunics and berets that the pupils of yesteryear would have worn to knuckle down to dictations with a quill pen, learning strong morals and how to do to do sums on the abacus. Lessons are enlivened by the award of good marks and/or dunces' caps, with plenty of laughter and evocative moments. During "break time" you are free to explore the 400 square metres of the museum to discover its rich collection of old classroom objects.

- Open from April to October, from 10.30 to 12.30 and from 14.30 to 18.00
- Animated tours • Adults : 9 € for adults, 6 € for children from 6 to 13

Enter the World of Thread, along the stream, with four areas to experience and to discover. The Filature des Calquières (the Calquières Mill) lies at the heart of a thousand-year-old town, on the banks of the Langouyrou river. The mill has now become a museum, with its machines dating from 1830 still in working order, driven by a mill wheel powered by the water from the millstream. You will be in a living museum that is a listed Historic Monument, in which a whole series of training sessions and workshops are held to explore wool in all its forms. There is open public access to the artistic exhibition gallery, and you will find very beautiful woollen garments in the Museum shop.

- Find out about opening days & hours depending on the season
- Open from mid-March to mid-December
- Guided and/or free tour
- Adults: €7 - 9 / Children: €5 - 6 (from 4 to 16 years inclusive) / Groups: €7 from 15 adults - €5 from 15 children.

Atelier TUFFERY

Makers of French jeans since 1892.

France's oldest jeans manufacturer

The 19th century master tailor Célestin TUFFERY, when he set out to solve the clothing needs of the workers coming to build the railway through the Cévennes, bought 100% cotton indigo-dyed cloth from Nîmes, and that is how France's first jeans came to be made, in 1892 in Florac.

The business he founded is still flourishing in Florac over a century later, handing down its knowhow through successive generations of the Tuffery family. With their arrival as the fourth generation of the family, Myriam and Julien have brought fresh impetus to renew these artisanal traditions, continuing and transmitting their passion for this heritage of French jeans manufacturing.

Atelier TUFFERY now offers, in its timeless collections, straightforward designer clothing that is responsibly and sustainably made – high quality jeans, jackets, skirts, dresses, shirts, shorts and men's and ladies' accessories that are both stylish and comfortable.

In the tradition of master tailors, Atelier TUFFERY continue to make clothes on demand, special attire or made-to-measure, using traditional skills and know-how enhanced by modern digital technology. The Tuffery brand, working with its customers, fosters the circular economy and the lifespan of its products by adapting or repairing used items and encouraging resale through a second hand clothes network.

Come and find out about the 130-year history of French jeans on a guided tour of Atelier TUFFERY, and learn about the key stages in the making of a pair of jeans, as well as our brand's commitments to more sustainable fashion.

Sur les chemins de Stevenson

(On the Stevenson trails)

A handsome 240-page volume newly published by Gallimard in its "Voyages" series, filled with beautiful photos, describes the various European trails and journeys which Stevenson travelled, described or imagined in his works. This book was created in collaboration with the Stevenson association of the Cévennes and the Stevenson European network. From the Scottish Highlands to the Cévennes, from Edinburgh to Barbizon, from the rivers and canals of Belgium and northern France to the Pentland hills of his native Lothian, the reader can follow in the footsteps of Stevenson the writer and traveller on a unique cultural journey of discovery of these regions of Europe and their cultural values.

On sale in bookshops throughout France, and may be consulted in some of the accommodation along the trail or at the association's offices.

La Fédération Française de Randonnée

In 1993, the main French walkers association Fédération Française de Randonnée (FFRandonnée) signposted the Stevenson Trail, thus creating the GR[®]70 between Le-Monastier-sur-Gazeille and Saint-Jean-du-Gard. To facilitate access to this historic path, it has now been extended from Le Puy to Alès. Marking is carried out by volunteers from the local committees of Haute-Loire, Lozère, Ardèche and Gard.

Finally, the FFR co-publishes with Chamina Edition the GR[®]70 guide book, an invaluable help for walkers together with the relevant IGN 1/25th maps.

Our partners have created two applications to offer you an original and amusing approach to a cultural exploration of the region:

The Vadrouille app

Brought out by the Cévennes National Park, the app makes use of sound as a vector of sensitivity and imagination, a sensory journey from the visible to the invisible to render audible the riches of the territory.

Audio headsets available on request from the Office de Tourisme of Le Bleynard, the Refuge at the Station du Mont Lozère and the Office de Tourisme of Le Pont de Montvert.

Baludik application

Broaden your knowledge by following treasure hunts in the villages of Lan-gogne, Le Bleynard, Le Pont de Montvert, Florac, Saint Germain de Calberte and Saint Etienne Vallée Française.

Both the applications can be downloaded free of charge on the Android and iOS systems..

VILLAGE SUR LE CHEMIN DE ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

Elsa Lescure © graphiste

Several municipalities on the GR ° 70 had asked the Stevenson Association to identify them as being on the Stevenson Trail. To standardize publicity materials, the Association took the initiative of producing a common pictorial representation that strengthens the image of the areas crossed by the Trail for locals, visitors and hikers alike.

In collaboration with the municipalities, new signposts are springing up along the Trail.

The Association is grateful to the Trail municipalities for their cooperation and involvement in this project.

Bed bugs

“Better information means a better combat”

Over the last few years, bed bugs have spread all over France in all types of professional and private accommodation. Their presence in no way reflects a lack of hygiene.

A bed bug is a nocturnal insect which feeds on human blood. Their bites are similar to mosquito bites, but are either grouped together or in line.

They can be irritating or not, depending on the sensitivity of each person. Bed bugs are usually found on the edge or inside bed sheets. Unfortunately, they also find their way into your luggage and are transported elsewhere.

The best friend of bed bugs is silence. If you don't speak about them, they will proliferate.

Good reflexes to fight the spread:

During the hike:

- Isolate your belongings in an airtight bag and separate your sleepwear and sleeping gear in an airtight bag separate from the rest.
- Preventively reat your down, luggage and personal effects (inside / outside)
- Regularly inspect bedding and bed linen (signs: small black dots and black or red streaks)
- Communicate: In the event of bites or doubts about the possible presence of bedbugs in accommodation, do not hesitate to speak to the host.

When you come back:

- Wash everything that passes at 60°C, dryer, iron at 180°C steam if you have a +++ appliance
- Freezing - 20 ° 72 hours minimum
- or put everything in quarantine in an airtight bag with diatomaceous earth.

"I have been after an adventure all my life, a pure dispassionate adventure, such as befell early and heroic voyagers; and thus to be found by morning in a random woodside nook in Gevaudan -not knowing north from south, as strange to my surroundings as the first man upon the earth, an inland castaway- was to find a fraction of my day-dreams realised."
